FOUGHT WITH A BURGLAR.

FATHER AND SON IN BROOKLYN HAD A HARD STRUGGLE.

AN AXE HAD TO BE USED BEFORE THE THIEF WOULD GIVE UP-TWO ATHLETES

GRAPPLED IN DARKNESS. Lawrence Brusharb, a young athlete, had a terrible encounter with a burglar early yesterday morning at his home, No. 138 Linden-st., Brooklyn, The burglar finally got the worst of it.

The Brusharbs, father and mother and son, occupy the first floor of the building. A window was open, and it was easy for the burglar to crawl in. About 1 o'clock Lawrence, the son, was awakened by hearing a noise in the partor. He called his father's attention to it, and the latter got up to investigate. He lighted a lamp and walked into the parlor, but just as he entered the room some one struck the lamp from his hand. He cried for help, and his son ran into the room and tackled the burgiar, who was making an effort to get out. He knocked the man to the floor, but the burglar sprang to his feet, and then both men clinched. Lawrence wrestled with all his might, but was mable to throw his antagonist, who was also athletic. His father by this time had managed to get hold of the burgiar, and together they were able to subdue him. Lawrence told his father to hold the man, saying he would be back in a minute. He dashed into the kitchen and picked up an axe.

Now," he said, "if you try to get away I'll brain The burglar made another attempt to get past his captors rather than be turned over to the police. Lawrence raised the axe and struck the eriminal in the chest, knocking him down. The burglar was game, however, and sprang to his feet again, only to receive a hard blow from the edge of the axe, when he dropped like a log.
"Move again, and I'll kill you!" growled Lawrence, leaning over him. "Call a policeman, pop. I guess I can take care of this fellow till you get back."

I guess I can take care of this fellow thi you coback.

Mr. Brusharb did not wish to leave his son with so dangerous a man, so Mrs. Brusharb went to the door and shouted until Policeman Tonnery, of the Hamburg-ave, station, respended. He handcuffed the prisoner, but his seemed unnecessary, as he had lost much strength as the blood flowed from the wound in his head. An ambulance surgeon dressed the wounds at the station, and it was not necessary to take the man to the hospital.

The man said he was James Evers, twenty-three years old, and lived at No. 38 Central-ave. The years old, and lived at No. 38 Central-ave. The station was preferred against him in the Ewenstein Stocourt. He pleaded not guitty, and was held in Stoc bail. The man awoke Lawrence Brusharb by knocking over a piece of furniture in the parlor.

BROOKLYN BOY RUN OVER AND KILLED.

THE DRIVER OF THE TEAM ESCAPED AND IS NOT KNOWN

Seven-year-old Willie Costello was run down and killed yesterday afternoon near his home. No. 495 St. Mark's-ave., Brooklyn, by a horse and wagon driven by an unknown man. Willie and a brother a flitle older were playing in the street about 1 clock, when the horse dashed down the road. The boy was knocked over, and his abdomen crushed by the wheels of the wagon. The driver, instead of stopping to see what damage he had caused, whipped his herse and got away before a policeman got on his trail

Willie's brother picked him up, and by the exercise of the utmost effort, managed to carry the little sufferer into the Memorial Hospital near by. The lad died an hour after he was knocked down. Dr. A. E. Goddard, of the hospital, was unable to relieve him he was so badly crushed internally. The body was taken to the boy's home.

DICKINSON COLLEGE DINNER.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR AT THE CLARENDON HOTEL IN BROOKLYN.

A goodly company of lovers and friends of Dickinson College filled all the available space in the banquet hall of the Clarendon Hotel, Brooklyn, on Thursday evening, on the occasion of the annual dinner of the New-York association of the alumni of that time-honored institution. The banquet was graced by the presence of many women, and among the many guests who accepted were the Rev. George E. Reed, president of the college, and Mrs. Reed; General Stewart L. Woodford and Mrs. and Miss Woodford, G. G. Reynolds, Professor and Mrs. Isaac F. Russell, Judge and Mrs. Charles E. Teule, Miss Carrie Teale, E. L. Tenle Dr. and Mrs. Charles L. Bonnell, the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. John Y. Dobbins, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cald-well, Willis Fletcher Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Wooley, Dr. J. A. Wooley, Professor S. D. Hillma on and daughter; Mrs. Smith, the Rev. and Mrs. Virgil Prettyman, Charles F. Harper, the Rev. J. R. Thompson, the Rev. George A. Phoebus, the Rev. Mr. Clark, the Rev. J. H. Lightbourn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Baldwin, the Rev. S. L. Bowman, the Rev. Andrew Longacre, the Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Randolph, the Rev. Dr. William G. Cassard, chaplain of the Indiana, General and Mrs. Horatio C. King, Miss. King and others.

After the supper General King, president of the association, called the guests to attention, and extended a cordial welcome, paying a high tribute to his Alma Mater, now at the highest period of her success, having 60 students, and proposed the singing of an ode written by him for the occasion, to the tune of "Lauriger Horatius," in which all heartily joined.

Letters of regret were then presented from Dr. St. Clair McKelway, Richard Watson Glider, James F. Rusling, John French, the Rev. John B. Haines, Willis McDonaid, the Rev. Antonio Arright, Captain H. C. Taylor of the Indiana, the Rev. John Greenbank, of the class of '48, and others.

Then for two hours there was a continuous flow. R. Thompson, the Rev. George A. Phoebus, the righl, Captain H. C. Taylor of the Indiana, the liev. John Greenbank, of the class of '48, and others.

Then for two hours there was a continuous flow of wit, humor and sentiment. Dr. Reed gave a glowing statement of the prosperity of the college, which is greater than in any period of its history in the number of students, increased accommodations and a large and harmonious faculty. Judge Reynolds spoke approvingly of the advantage of smail colleges over the large universities, where the number is so great the students are unknown to their instructors, and classmen do not even know each other. Dr. Dobbins spoke pleasantly of his Alma Mater. Dr. Cassard, who has recently received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from the college, gave a vivid account of the sea fight off Santiago, and there were interesting and lively speeches by Dr. Russell, and the Rev. Mr. Thompson. Mr. Walkley resited his recent poem, "Up With the Flaz" and Wilhs Fletcher Johnson, a degree man of Dickinson, Dr. Bowman and Professor Hillman, graduates of and professors for many years in the institution, made remarks. Then Judge Teale closed the entertainment with a warm eulogium. The exercises were varied by a violin solo by Miss Carrie Teale, accompanied by Miss Peck on the plano. The company dispersed at the midnight hour, though some remained to exchange reminiscences over another cigar. Dr. and Mrs. Reed were the guests of General King during their stay in Brooklyn.

HIS SQUEEZE RESULTED FATALLY.

William Seymour, of No. 257 Hoyt-st., Brooklyn, was so badly squeezed between a truck wheel and the cabin on the Hamilton ferryboat Montauk on Friday night that he died yesterday morning at Friday night that he died yesterday morning at the Long Island College Hospital from his injuries. Frederick Bucksbaum, the driver of the truck, was arrested by an officer of the Forty-ninth Preduct on a charge of assault. He was held on ball, which was furnished by his employer, Ernest Jahn Owing to the death of Seymour, Bucksbaum will be arraigned in the Butter-st. court again to-day, and his ball increased. Bucksbaum says that the entire affair was an accident, and that he was not to blame. Seymour was about thirty-one years old.

NEWS FROM ADELPHI COLLEGE.

As midyear approaches, preparations are made for the reception of new students, especially of the graduates of the grammar and high schools, who are admitted to grade on presentation of their certificates of graduation. These should be presented in person between 9:15 and 10:30 o'clock in the morning and 2:15 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon of any school day and between 9 and 10 o'clock on Baturday morning.

An interesting work has been going on for some time in the French department. It is modelled on the system of "international correspondence," which has long prevailed between schools in France and England, to their mutual advantage, A student of French in a school in England has for a correspondent a student of English in a school in France. Each criticises and returns the letters of the other. Two years ago Professor Scharff made a request that her students might take part in this system, but there were no French students disengaged. She then, assisted by Mile. Charvet, instructor in French, made direct arrangements with French colleges and schools with which they were acquainted and established a system of correspondence. The work had this additional interest, that the teachers of the pupils who engaged in it were personal friends. The list of correspondents has increased until about thirty students in Adelphi are now enrolled. The system is to be extended to the sub-collegiate department in the near future. The senior kindergarten training class has been occupied for several weeks in the application of some psychological principles to the teaching of young children. One object steadily kept in view has been to connect kindergarten and primary work, and to show how the principles which underlie instruction in the former are applicable to work in the primary grades.

At the recent examination of kindergartners to form an eligible list of candidates for appointment engaged. She then, assisted by Mile. Charvet, in-

At the recent examination of kindergartners to form an eligible list of candidates for appointment as directors in Greater New-York, the name of Isabel Peckham Pashley, '90, A. A., stood first in merit aut of about seventy-five competitors. Miss Helen Richmond Frary, of the Adelphi kindergarten normal course, '95, and Miss Marie Genevieve Egan, '95, in the same course, were also among the successful competitors.

The young society borrowed $500 from Trinity Church, Manhattan, which is still a lien on the old building. The North Fifth-st. property was consecrated by Jonathan Mayhew Wainright, a provisional bishop, in 1853.

The first rector of the church was the Rev. Mr. Payne, who served only a short time, as did also his successor, the Rev. Robert J. Walker. Later his successor, the Rev. Robert J. Walker, Later pastors were the Revs. B. T. Taylor and George W. Timlow, Samuel W. Sayers, now of Far Rock-saway; John P. Bausmann and H. Floy Roberts, Mr. Timlow resigned because he had been threatened with presentment for preaching in non-Episcopai pulpits. The longest pastorate was that of the Rev. Francis Peck, from 1890 to 1882. He resigned and was succeeded by the Rev. H. Richards Harris, who served three years and was followed by the present rector, the Rev. Cornelius Leighton Twing. Mr. Twing was born in Burdington, Vt., in 1836. His father, the Rev. Dr. A. T. Twing, was pastor of a church in Lansingburg for twenty-three years.

The following are the present officers of the church: Mr. Twing, rector; Walter Marshall and James H. Brown, wardens; Charles Chinn, Ira Ford, Abram V. Burbarle, Arthur Rifenburgh, Thomas C. Pallard, Albert E. Disney, Thomas J. Ivins, H. A. James and James H. Collins, vestrymen.

POLICY MEN TO BE TRIED.

DISTRICT-ATTORNEY STEELE OF KINGS COUNTY TO PRESS A NUMBER OF CASES. Next Friday in the County Court, before Judge Hurd, will be a field day for the policy gamblers in Brooklyn. Under the Tammanyized government of the Borough of Brooklyn the policy-shops have run in half a dozen precincts without serious molestation. It is alleged that of the seven or eight policy men indicted and to be brought to trial by District-Attorney Steele, four or five were arrested by the police because they refused to make the proper kind of conciliatory terms with Democratic politicians who have a "pull" with the police.

Whether these men will tell all they know when hey are placed on trial, or whether first-class ounsel will be furnished by the policy fraternity nd a stubborn light be made in their defence, is at known. not known

CONCERTS BY THE INSTITUTE.

SERIES OF MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENTS LASTING INTO THE SPRING.

The musical entertainments provided by the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences for its members will be continued well into the spring. A series of concerts of a popular order is announced begin on January 25 and continue until the end of March. In the course such planists as Mrs. Bloomfield-Zeisler and Mile. Aus der Ohe, the violinist, Henri Marteau, and singers such as Mrs. Katharine Fisk, Max Heinrich and Gwilym Miles will be heard. At the first concert, on Wednesday evening, January 25, Mile. Aus der Ohe will play and Gwillym Miles, barytone, and Charles St Phillips, a Brooklyn tenor, will sing. Isadore Luckstone, as usual, will be the accompanist.

The programme will include three Schumann songs, a group of Scotch songs, by Grant-Schafer and three vocal numbers by Tschaikowsky, sung by Mr. Miles; Schumann's G minor sonata, two of the Mendelssohn songs without words and two groups of short pieces, including compositions by Chopin, Kullak, Liszt and Tausig, played by Mile. Aus der Ohe; a suite, composed by Mile. Aus der Ohe, and played by her; a group of English songs, sung by Mr. Phillips, and a duet, by Mr. Phillips Mr. Miles, closing the concert.

Time second concert, on February 8, will mark the first appearance before the Institute of young Dud-ley Buck, ir., who has recently completed his ley Buck, jr., who has recently completed his sit dies abroad. Mr. Buck will assist Mme. Fannie Bloomfield-Zeisler. The third concert, on March 24, will be a song recital by Max Heinrich, tarytone, and Mrs. Hadden Alexander, planist. Mr. Heinrich is already known to Institute audiences, but Mrs. Alexander's appearance will be her first here. She is a young planist, a native of Michigan, who has studied at home and abroad.

The fourth concert, on March 16, will be given by Henri Marteau and Mrs. Katharine Fisk. Mr. Marteau appeared last year with Miss Lotta Mills, the planist. The last concert in the series will be on March 20, by Edward Haxter Berry, planist, and Mrs. Sopria Markee, soprano. Mr. Perry is the blind composer and planist, of Boston. He appeared before the Institute some years ago in a lecture recital interpretative of various kinds of lyrical and programme music. Alt the concerts will be given in Association Hall.

The facts that Witheim Gericke is back in his post as conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and that Mme. Schumann-Heink was the soliest, were responsible for the large attendance at the concert by the orchestra in the Brooklya Acadeny of Music last evenig. Frailiein Milka Termina was announced as the soloist, but on account of her iliness her place was filled by Mme. Schumann-Heink. The contraite sang an aria from the "Titus" of Mozart and a recitative and aria from Bruch's "Odysseus." The orchestral programme consisted of the Brahms "Academic Overture," symphonic variations on an original theme by Anton Dvoraa, and Robert Volkmann's first symphony in D minor. The novelty of the programme was the Dvorak number. Its first performance in this country was in Boston by the Symphony Orchestra under Mr. Gericke in 1839. It has not been played here since.

PROTEST AGAINST THEIR ASSESSMENTS.

TAXPAYERS OF QUEENS SAY THE VALUATIONS ARE TOO HIGH.

Property-owners in all par's of the five wards of the Borough of Queens are making daily complaints at the office of the Tax Commissioner, in Long Island City, against the increased assessments levied on their property. In some instances values have been raised from 100 to 300 per cent. and the taxpayers declare that if the property was sold it would not bring anything near the figure which the Tax Department holds it to be worth. A delegation of taxpayers of the Fifth Ward, which includes Far Rockaway, Rockaway Beach, Arverne and Edgemere, headed by William Wain-wright, F. W. Avery, M. T. Mulqueen, Remington William H. Amerman, William Scheer, Richard Sterns, William P. Holland, Alonzo D. Hough, Henry J. Sachs, John Dunphy, Henry M. Tostevin, William S. Sohen, J. O. Vest, Eben Dimon and John G. Summerfield, went over the tax books and pointed out alleged errors in valuations to Deputy-Tax Commissioner Conley. Frederick A. Ward, of Brooklyn, ex-Supreme Court Justice, who owns about four hundred feet of beach property at Rockaway Beach and Arverne, has had his assessment increased from $10,000 in 1897 to $162,000, which is the biggest increase made

He says he could not get $20,000 some time ago, when he tried to sell the land.

William H. Amerman, a broker, of No. 27 William-st. Manhattan, living at Arverne, has his assessment increased from $15,000 to $85,000. M. P. Holland, of Rockaway Beach, in 1897 was assessed at $15,000, but now it is $66,000.

in Arverne, is assessed $50,000, as against $2,000 in 187.

William Scheer, a jeweller at No. 267 Broadway, owns a strip of property twelve hundred feet long, from the board walk in Arverne to the beach. He says he paid $11,000 for it four years ago, when Arverne was enjoying a boom. He is down on the books for $25,000, although he says one-fourth of the land has been washed away by the sea, and that in time all of it will go. He says he cannot get $7,000 for the strip now.

The assessment in the ward this year is $13,962,-905, while the assessment made in 1897 was $3,351,071.

There will be a meeting of the taxpayers on Tuesday to decide on a plan for securing a reduction.

PORT JEFFERSON'S BANK DIRECTORS.

BROOKLYN SOCIAL NOTES.

Last week, was one of the gayest of the season the various balls and dances bringing together people from all parts of this big city, as well as from Philadelphia, Boston and several of the large towns of New-Jersey. Probably the greatest num-ber of handsome gowns and beautiful young women seen at the Hebrew Orphan Asylum ball, with its nearly two thousand guests. Gauze and silk muslin robed most of the young women at all of these affairs, and an unusual number of allwhite gowns were worn, as well as a noteworthy array of all-black, the latter as often entirely of tissue as in combination with satin and jet.

Mrs. Josiah T. Marean were one of the most striking and beautiful costumes at the Ihpetonga. striking and beautiful costumes at the Ihpetonga. The material was yellow satin, of rich lustre, the waist entirely covered with embrodlery in Oriental style, of gold, silver and steel. The low corsage was finished at the neck with exquisite jewels, and about the throat was a collar of pearls. Mrs. Timothy L. Woodruff was attired in a dainty dress of hand-painted mousesline age sole, with revers and bowknots of turquoise-blue velvet and flounces of lace about the skirt. It her hair was a tiara of diamonds. Dhamonds flashed from the hair or necks of all the fair dancers, while the chaperons and hostesses were ablaze with gems.

The beautiful decorations of the supper rooms were left from the Ihpetonga for the Hebrew ball. Among all the women present, few were more tastefully arrayed than Mrs. Abraham Abraham, who, with Moses May, led the promenade. Her gown was of gray satin and velvet, the waist cut in points and falling over valuable point lace.
